

EMOTIVE LANGUAGE

You might have great ideas to share, but do you have the tools to convince others? Emotive language is what comes to your rescue. While training learners in English language skills, Edulyte's tutors found that many needed help communicating their thoughts effectively and writing persuasively. Such abilities are significant if you intend to attempt any English language test.

Read More

Q1) Which of the following is NOT an example of emotive language?

- A. The breath-taking sunset painted the sky with vibrant hues.
- B. The tragic event left the audience in tears.
- C. The study results indicate a significant correlation between the variables.
- D. The exhilarating roller coaster ride filled me with excitement.

Answer: C. The study results indicate a significant correlation between the variables.

Q2) Which of the following is an example of emotive language used in a political speech?

- A. The proposed policy will bring about positive changes and create a better future for all citizens.
- B. Our opponents are heartless, corrupt individuals who care only about their gain.
- C. Through careful analysis and data-driven decision-making, we can achieve economic prosperity.
- D. Let us unite and work together.

Answer: B. Our opponents are heartless, corrupt individuals who care only about their gain.

Q3) Which one of the following is an example of emotive language?

- A. The sun sets in the west.
- B. The magnificent sunset painted the sky with hues of gold and crimson.
- C. The research study reveals a statistically significant relationship between the variables.
- D. The economic report highlights a steady growth in the GDP.

Answer: B. The magnificent sunset painted the sky with hues of gold and crimson.

Q4) Which of the following is an example of emotive language associated with fear?

- A. The mountain peak offers breathtaking views of the surrounding landscape.
- B. The terrifying creature lurked in the shadows, sending shivers down their spines.
- C. The research findings reveal a significant decrease in crime rates.
- D. The financial report highlights a steady growth in the company's revenue.

Answer: B. The terrifying creature lurked in the shadows, sending shivers down their spines.

Q5) Which of the following is an example of happy emotive language?

- A. The weather forecast predicts clear skies tomorrow.
- B. The joyful celebration filled the air with laughter and cheer.
- C. The survey results indicate a high level of satisfaction among participants.
- D. The financial report shows an increase in profits for the quarter.

Answer: B. The joyful celebration filled the air with laughter and cheer.

Q6) Which of the following is an example of emotive language associated with happiness?

- A. The stormy weather caused disruptions in the city.
- B. The delightful surprise brought a broad smile to her face.
- C. The research study demonstrates a positive correlation between two variables.
- D. The financial report indicates a stable financial position for the company.

Answer: B. The delightful surprise brought a broad smile to her face

Q7) Which of the following is an example of emotive language associated with anger?

- A. The gentle breeze rustled the leaves on the trees.
- B. The infuriating injustice of the situation ignited a fire within him.
- C. The research study highlights a strong correlation between two variables.
- D. The financial report indicates a decline in profits for the quarter.

Answer: B. The infuriating injustice of the situation ignited a fire within him.

Q8) Which of the following statements demonstrates emotive language associated with amazement?

- A. The scientific study presents compelling evidence supporting the theory.
- B. The mind-blowing spectacle left the audience in awe and wonder.
- C. The data analysis reveals a strong correlation between the variables.
- D. The financial report indicates a steady increase in sales for the quarter.

Answer: B. The mind-blowing spectacle left the audience in awe and wonder.

Q9) Which of the following statements demonstrates the use of emotive language associated with surprise?

- A. The book provides an interesting analysis of the historical events.
- B. The unexpected turn of events left everyone stunned and speechless.
- C. The survey findings indicate a high level of customer satisfaction.
- D. The financial report shows a steady growth in revenue for the company.

Answer: B. The unexpected turn of events left everyone stunned and speechless.

Q10) Which of the following statements demonstrates the use of emotive language associated with tragedy?

- A. The historical documentary provides a detailed account of the events.
- B. The heartbreaking tragedy brought tears to the eyes of onlookers.
- C. The data analysis reveals a significant decline in market performance.
- D. The financial report highlights a decrease in profits for the quarter.

Answer: B. The heartbreaking tragedy brought tears to the eyes of onlookers.