

DICTION

Have you ever wondered how and which writing style you should choose to represent your thoughts on a paper? How about naming this kind of thought so that you recognise the grammar and proficiency, quickly quoting the right things at the right time? Suppose you want to write something poetic. How do you know it's a poetic tone, to begin with? If you want to write a story, what tone or "diction" should it be? Let us look at what diction is briefly in this article.

Read more

Q1: Which of the following is an example of colloquial diction?

A: Gotta do it

B: Shut it and shut out

Q2: Which of the following is an example of informal diction?

A: Hey there

B: Let's Roll!

Q3: Which of the following is an example of technical diction?

A: The Sliding over

B: Dealing with it

Q4: True or False: Diction is used for efficient communication

A: True

B: False

Q5: True or False: Diction is used for serving a motive to the audience

A: True

B: False

Q6: True or False: Diction is used only in formal writing

- A: True
 - B: False
-

Q7: True or False: Diction is used for slangs

- A: True
 - B: False
-

Q8: True or False: Diction is used for effortless blog writing

- A: True
 - B: False
-

Q9: True or False: Diction is used for describing tone and mood

- A: True
 - B: False
-

Q10: True or False: Diction is used for every write-up

- A: True
 - B: False
-

Answers

Q1: B - Shut it and shut out

Q2: B - Let's Roll!

Q3: B - Dealing with it

Q4: A - True

Q5: A - True

Q6: B - False

Q7: B - False

Q8: A - True

Q9: A - True

Q10: A - True