

PARENTHESES

Parentheses, you know those little curved brackets (like this: ()) that seem to pop up here and there in writing? They serve a pretty nifty purpose. The main function of parentheses definition is to provide additional information or clarification within a sentence. They act like a side note, allowing the writer to sneak in extra details without disrupting the flow of the main sentence.

Read more

Q1: Which of the following examples demonstrates the correct usage of parentheses?

- A: The company (which was founded in 2005) has grown rapidly in recent years.
 - B: The company, which was founded in 2005, has grown rapidly in recent years.
 - C: The company (which was founded in 2005, has grown rapidly in recent years).
 - D: The company which was founded in 2005 has grown rapidly in recent years.
-

Q2: Which punctuation mark is used to enclose parentheses?

- A: Square brackets
 - B: Curly braces
 - C: Dash
 - D: Round brackets (or parentheses)
-

Q3: Which sentence demonstrates the correct use of parentheses to add extra information?

- A: The concert, (which was held indoors), was a huge success.
 - B: The concert (held indoors), was a huge success.
 - C: The concert (which was held indoors) was a huge success.
 - D: The concert (held indoors) was a huge success.
-

Q4: Which sentence demonstrates correct placement and formatting of parentheses?

- A: The cake (which was delicious) was eaten quickly.
 - B: The cake (which was delicious) was eaten quickly.
 - C: The cake (which was delicious) was eaten quickly.
 - D: The cake (which was delicious) was eaten quickly.
-

Q5: How should you handle punctuation marks within parentheses?

- A: Place them inside the parentheses.
 - B: Place them outside the parentheses.
 - C: Remove them entirely.
 - D: Use double punctuation marks within the parentheses.
-

Q6: Can you use multiple sets of parentheses within a sentence?

- A: Yes, but it is discouraged.
 - B: No, it is grammatically incorrect.
 - C: Yes, as long as they are placed correctly.
 - D: Yes, but only when using square brackets.
-

Q7: Which sentence demonstrates incorrect placement of parentheses?

- A: The dog (barking loudly) scared the mailman.
 - B: The dog barking (loudly scared the mailman).
 - C: The dog (barking loudly scarethe mailman.
 - D: The dog barking loudly (scared the mailman).
-

Q8: What is the purpose of parentheses in writing?

- A: To separate a list of items.
 - B: To indicate a question.
 - C: To emphasize a word or phrase.
 - D: To end a sentence abruptly.
-

Q9: Which punctuation marks can be used when using parentheses?

- A: Round brackets only.
 - B: Curly braces only.
 - C: Angle brackets and square brackets.
 - D: Round brackets, commas and dashes
-

Q10: Can parentheses be used to add extra information within a sentence?

- A: No, parentheses should only be used for mathematical equations.
 - B: Yes, but they should always be avoided in formal writing.
 - C: Yes, parentheses are commonly used to add extra information.
 - D: No, parentheses are only used for citations and references.
-

Answers

Q1: A - The company (which was founded in 2005) has grown rapidly in recent years.

Q2: D - Round brackets (or parentheses)

Q3: C - The concert (which was held indoors) was a huge success.

Q4: A - The cake (which was delicious) was eaten quickly.

Q5: A - Place them inside the parentheses.

Q6: C - Yes, as long as they are placed correctly.

Q7: C - The dog (barking loudly) scared the mailman.

Q8: C - To emphasize a word or phrase.

Q9: D - Round brackets, commas and dashes

Q10: C - Yes, parentheses are commonly used to add extra information.